>>Check Out Our Google Map<<
(Click the link above)

New to Google Maps? We can help with that!

Once you’ve clicked the link above, then you’ll be taken to Google Maps and you’ll see something like this:

The part on the left is called the Legend. If you’re on a smart phone or an iPad you may need to turn your device sideways in order for the Legend to be shown to you.

Let’s See What You’re Looking At:

LEGEND: This is where you’ll learn what information is included on the map. On mobile devices, you may need to turn the device sideways for this to appear. If your settings have the autorotation feature turned off then you’ll need to change that in your device settings.

ICON: The little images on the map such as 📍 for Parking or 🍽️ for Food

LAYER: These bold words with a check box next to them indicate that the map maker grouped similar items together for you to view. If the check box is selected (has a check mark in the box) then the icons related to the items in the list will appear on the map. When you want to find that item, look for the icon associated with that location.

ZOOM: To zoom in; click the + sign. To zoom out, click the - sign.

ARROW TAB: When you want to hide the legend, you click on the arrow tab. On a mobile device, just change the orientation of your device. (Turn it back to the upright position.)

Notice that the LEGEND has a list of items with a check box beside them. Those are called LAYERS. The nice thing about this style of map is that we can get you a ton of information and all you have to do is click on the map ICONS within the layer to learn more.

Let’s get you started.

1. First, click on VIEW LEGEND. This may require you to turn your mobile device sideways. On your computer, just click VIEW LEGEND.

2. Uncheck each of those boxes. Notice that the icons on the map have gone away. When you get familiar with the map then you can just select whatever layers you want. I’m asking you to uncheck these so that you’ll learn some basic skills with your new map.

3. Next, click on Participant Information. You now have quite a few icons on the map. These ones are specifically for our Participants—you!

4. Click on an item on the list that you want to look at. You’ll notice that the corresponding icon becomes enlarged and the map re-centers on that icon. The same thing will happen if you’re on a computer and you let your cursor rest on an item.

(On to the next page!)
And the Learning Continues...

Select the icon that interests you. I chose PARKING: Truck/Trailer Parking @ The Old PennDOT Stock Pile. You can see what I picked because the Text Box says so right at the top.

That’s right! There’s now a text box with the information that goes along with this part of the map.

The map has re-centered on to this area.
The icon is enlarged.
And, I now have a text box with additional information about this location.

In this next image, I checked the box to see the PARTICIPANT INFORMATION. I zoomed in so I could see just the area near the school.

I also have changed my base map to a satellite view so that I could get a good bird’s eye view of what was happening.

The map is pretty sweet! Go ahead! Play around and see what you can discover!
